RE: Integration Planning Update

We are pleased to update you on the Integration Team planning process that is under way between Burlington Resources and ConocoPhillips. The Integration Team members, shown below, met for the first time on Monday, Dec. 19, to kick off integration planning efforts and outline processes and goals.

The group agreed to several key deliverables and milestones at this initial meeting including:

- Regularly scheduled meetings to discuss progress on integration planning goals
- A commitment to conduct our activities in accordance with guiding principles that call for each team member to make a successful integration planning effort his or her number one personal priority
- A commitment to provide all Burlington Resources employees and ConocoPhillips employees in impacted business units their employment status by the day of closing, and
- The establishment of sub-teams in each of the integration planning areas that will begin work immediately to address key issues.

In general, we expect the integration effort to focus on the Lower-48 and Canadian upstream organizations and corporate staff functions.

The team will meet again on Jan. 5, 2006, after which time we expect to begin a regular process of e-mail updates to ConocoPhillips and Burlington Resources employees.

The team also received a briefing from anti-trust counsel about the need for Burlington Resources and ConocoPhillips to continue to operate as independent entities until the merger is officially approved and closed. As a reminder, no "competitively sensitive" information (information that you ordinarily would not disclose to a competitor, such as contract terms, detailed cost information for particular services, future pricing or marketing plans, etc.) or information which could otherwise limit the competitiveness of either company should be requested or exchanged without the express approval of both companies' counsel. The exchange of information related to the integration will be coordinated through the Integration Team and sub-teams with the assistance of counsel.

In closing, we wish you and your families a very safe and very happy holiday season. We hope you join us in looking forward to the many opportunities this merger will bring.

Regards,

Randy Limbacher, Integration Leader, Burlington Resources
John Lowe, Integration Leader, ConocoPhillips
